Our Doddridge County Letter. The joint discussion between Col. Wilson

days, the number of persons in attendance was much smaller than it otherwise would have been, but a sufficient number was present to indicate that the people of Doddridge county are alive to their interests in the coming election. There were about two hundred persons present, mostly voters, and about equally divided between the, two parties; among these many of the most substantial men in the county.

JIDGE STEWART'S REMARKS days, the number of persons in attendance JUDGE STEWART'S REMARKS.

JUDGE STEWART'S REMARKS.

About 2 o'clock P. M., the people assembled at the Court House, and at the solicitation of Hon. Ephriam Bee, and many other friends of Judge Stewart, who were anxious to hear from him, the candidates consented to give the Judge the first hearing. He was then duly called out by his friends, and responded in a powerful, eloquent and ringing speech against thoring in this State, to the evident discomfiture of Col. Ben and his Iriends. The Judge's arraignment of the ring, and denunciation of the lawyer's constitution, and the new and disgraceful order of things inaugurated under it, was severe andscathing, and met with the hearty approval of the crowd. The Judge has been induced by his friends to become an independent candidate for the House of Delegates from Doddridge, and will doubtless be overwhelmingly elected. ubtless be overwhelmingly elected. COL. BEN'S OPENING.

At the close of the Judge's speech Col. Wilson opened the discussion between him and Golf in a speech of about fifty minutes. He disposed of State issues in a nothing to do with the canvass between him and Goff, and he did not propose to discuss them. He evidently saw nothing but shipwreck in a discussion of the vile doings of the ring, and avoided any allouisn to our deplorable condition as a State, but dwelt mostly and in detail upon the condition of Louisiana and South Carolina. He went back to the nanswerable argument the villainles and corruptions of the ring since its accession to power, and dwelt upon its successful efforts to degrade the people's Governor and to oppress and rob the people themselves. He showed that the condition of Louisians, South Carolina and compared that the and some of the other Southern States was owing to the rule or ruin policy of a ring such as we have in our a ring such as we have in our own State, and the refusal of the better own State, and the refusal of the better classes of the people to accept the situa-tion and participate in the government. The General "went for" all rings, whether composed of Democrats or Republicans, or found in the State or National Administration, and showed that unless the ministration, and showed that unless the people rise in their majesty at the approaching election and put it down, the ring will soon have our . State in as disgraceful a condition as any of the more Southern States, even if it is not now bordering on that condition. The evportering on that condition. The evident approval with which the crowd, irrespective of party, received this part of the General's speech, convinced the Colonel and his friends that the distressed state of affairs in our own State has quite as much to do with this campaign as the condition of any other State does condition of any other State does.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS. The General then turned upon that part of Wilson's speech that had refer-ence to national issues, and demolished it completely. He was in favor of such it completely. He was in favor of such segulation of the currency as would now and at all times afford the people a suf-ficient circulation for the transaction of the business of, the country, and to this end favored a system of free banking. He was opposed to the Civil Rights bill nt form, and most successfully spiked what the Colonel thought to be his heaviest gun by vividly describing how earnestly and eloquently the Colonel had supported and advocated the election of Horace Greeley to the Presidency—a man who, with more influence and fervency than any other in the nation. had advothan any other in the nation, had advo-cated the adoption of the Civil Rights bill in its present form. Goff was listened to throughout with marked attention, and throughout with marked sitemuos, and his sentiments and elequent and sharp thrusts at the Colonel and the ring received frequent and hearty applause. Goil got all the enthusiasm on his ade. There were but one or two feeble attempts to applaud the Colonel, and those proved utter failures. When Goff closed there was a very general feeling among his opponents as well as his friends, that he opponents as well as his friends, that he had very much the advantage of Wilson, and this feeling was greatly increased and intensified by Wilson's reply of about fifteen minutes, during which he allowed himself to become very much excited, and did little but to throw stray shot at some of God's positions, which, however, spent their fury before they reached their mark. He strempted no answer to God's powerful arraignment of the ring. He admitted that there is a ring, but plend and the strempted and devided that he ever was or not guilty and denied that he ever was or now is in it, but this cobweb so ingeniously woven by the Colonel for his own protection lacked the requisite thickness to support his ponderons weight, and he came down through it with a crash.

On the whole it has been a glorious victory for the opponents of the ring and the friends of retremchment and reform, and they are leaving town while I write in the most jubilant of spirits. Bet this down as score one for Goff. He will carry Doddridge by one hundred majority at least. not guilty and denied that he ever was or

Our Moundsville Letter.

Twenty Dollars Lost and Found—Honesty Among the Lowly—Local Items and a Local Editor in Wheeling.

MOUNDSVILLE, Sept. 28, 1874. tors of the Intelligencer:

I was at Wheeling on Saturday, and while we were making the inevitable change of cars at Benwood Station an in-cident occurred that made a considerable cident occurred that made a considerable impression on my mind. It at least impressed me with the fact that there is one disinterestedly honest person in the world. A gentleman soon after passing from one car to the other found that he had lost two ten dollar bills, which he had carelessly, we think, stuffed into his vest pocket. An excited but careful search was made all around him, in all his pockets, and in the car which he had left, and he came to the conclusion that he had been robbed, as nothing could be found of the missing money. No one doubted that the missing money. No one doubted that the man had lost the money for his looks are the stamp of truth to his assertion. All the immates of the car instinctively felt for their pocket books, and each looked into the face of his fellow passengers to see on whose countenance was written pickpocket. Some one here suggested to the gentleman that he inquire of the lady who awares the car. west Union, Sept. 25th.

Editors inhelligencer:
Gen. Goff and Col. Wilson met for the first time during the campaign, at this place to-day, and held a joint discussion of the issues involved in the campaign. Owing to the fact that notices of the meeting had been published but a few days, the number of the issues involved in the campaign.

that honesty, for no one had seen her find it, and she would not even have been pressed with questions concerning it.

I came to the conclusion on Baturday that local items are about as scarce in Wheeling as in Moundsville, and this is why: My attention was called to a manifeming against a telegraph pole, and I and he remained standing there so long that I wondered it he was not expecting a local by telegraph. Towards evening I saw the same gentleman in a street-car on its way from Bridgeport, where he had been no doubt to hunt items. Learning from a friend that the game of base ball was still in progress on the Fair ing from a friend that the game of base ball was still in progress on the Fair Ground, he sprang from the car, and the last we saw of him he was rushing like mad for the entrance, where so doubt he could pick up more than one item.

Yesterday the weather was so bad that the attendance at church was very slim. Why is it that bad weather will keep people from church sooger than any other.

ople from church sooner than any other people from cauren sooner than any other place? The rain yesterday would not have kept any one of those from their places of business who were kept from church yesterday. Such rains don't keep the children from the day school; yet not half the children were at Sabbath school vesterday. Are these things of loss in pesterday. Are these things of less importance than temporal matters? It looks that way to an observer.

Last evening, at the M. E. Church, instead of the regular service, a Sunday school meeting was held to review the lessons of the quarter just closing. The review was conducted by Revs Evans. few short sentences, stating that they had review was conducted by Revs. Evans raised for that purpose last winter this same W. T. Burdett stood watch in the House to see who of his party friends were moving in the matter and strange to say no report could be had from that committee.

Mr. Morrison was active with the Republicans and independent Democrats in securing an investigation into these matters and the entire opposition to the ring candidate should concentrate on him and give him a seat in the next Senate by an overwhelming majority, and thereby rebuke the corrupt ring who ex-pect to elect Burdett, and then make him their willing tool in covering up and smothering an honest investigation of the State Auditors and Treasurers syndi-

Mr. Morrison is Burdetts superior in experience, ability and every trait that goes to make up a faithful Benator, and his election will be one of the stepping stones towards the redemption of the State from the corrupt practices that have grown up, under "Reform" rule.

JOHNSON. JOHNSON.

Sour Stomach.

If the food taken into the stomach is not digested it decomposes. In the latter case a pungent gas is developed which causes sour eructations, or else the stomach itself secret an acid, which, rising upward at intervals, stings the gullet sharply, These extremely disstings the gullet sharply, These extremely disserceable sensations are attributable to impaired digestion. To get rid of them, or prevent their recurrence, it is only necessary to tone and regulate the gastric organs with Hostetter's Bitters. It will not answer to postpone the great corrective with the idea that the unpleasant symptoms will disappear of themselves. So far from that being the case, they amost invariably culminate, if neglected, in chronic dyspopels, with its concominants of gaswing in the stomach distances. It is true that all these disagreeables may be obvised by a course of the Bitters, but how much wiser to anticipate their arrival with one or two doses of that sure preventive of indigestion and strengthener of the allimentary organs.

If Per Chance You have got into trouble procure at once a package of the Samaritan's Gift, use as directed and you will be all right in three of rour days. The trouble when taken in time is easily over-come, but when neglected, or when the quack is visited and he gives his course of Balssm Co-pable, then very often serious complications arise which prolong the disease for weeks, per-haps months.

haps months,
Another fallacy is, in persons trying to save a few cents, dabble in cheap drugs, which so disorder and sicken the stomach that almost death itself would be a relief. Banaritan's Gift will cure every time, with no more unpleasant results than if the trouble had not existed at all.

He !referred to the currency question, but left the people more confused than ever before upon just what his position is upon this vexed question, and closed his opening speech by a tirsde about the Civil Rights bill, and drew the favorite picture, which has been before the Democratic eye for the past thirty years—"a big black nigger sitting by the side of a little white girl."

He notice with pride and satisfaction that the favorite picture, which has been before the Democratic eye for the past thirty years—"a big black nigger sitting by the side of a little white girl."
